The Daily Oregonian

[illegible]

News of To-Day.

[illegible] the most [illegible] of the [illegible] attack, and [illegible] with [illegible] Georgia [illegible]. The Legislature of Georgia [illegible] withdrawing [illegible] Sherman [illegible] the [illegible] this subject are given in the dispatch.

The Georgia Legislature has been discussing [illegible] State [illegible] the [illegible] Indians that are [illegible] very good [illegible] of the [illegible] attaining it.

Richmond papers say a part of Sherman's army has gone to Beaufort [illegible] Sherman will meet obstacles and forces he does not expect, that Macon cannot [illegible].

Breckinridge is in East [illegible] endeavoring to restore the people to Southern allegiance.

Maximilian has'nt a clear field by any means in Mexico, and we have accounts of some 9,000 liberal troops at Oajaca, which is fortified to resist an imperial attack. The troops are said to be dissatisfied with the emperor, and the guerillas give him constant trouble. It is said McClellan is willing to head a commission of Democrats to Richmond to confer upon peace and reunion.

Specific Contract Law and Greenbacks for Taxes.—The world will agree with us that the inconsistencies of the Review are more eccentric than dangerous.

We have read [illegible] most humorous verse of the man that once let his propensities have way and became "as funny as he could," just for once; but the Review forgets itself, and is altogether too funny all the time. The last Legislature enacted that taxes should be paid in coin, and that specific contracts should be enforced by the Courts. O'Meara will have it that "these acts were passed by Abolition votes," and we candidly confess that he is nearer right than usual. We don't object to the views of that erudite gentleman on the subject of specific contracts or of coin for taxes, for really, after carefully reading the article in question, we cannot see that he has any, but we do object to the insinuation that all who voted for these measures were "Abolitionists." We are used to the name, and rather affect it—to be sure, we are not the simon pure, fanatical, Garrison, John Brown article; never were nor intend to be; we merely favor the abolition of treason, and perhaps slavery, the right bower of treason—but there were most able advocates of these acts whose feelings would be hurt to have the epithet brought home to them. Fay of Jackson, and Lamb of Umatilla, are "forenist" it, and we insist, James, that you do not risk their displeasure by calling those gentlemen Abolitionists. They are not used to it, do not deserve it, and we hardly think they will put up with it. Neither do we think they will have much respect for the veracity of the editor that stoops to such small potato, pettifogging attempts to impose on the ignorance and credulity of the unterrified Democracy.

Major General Sheridan.—There is no individual record made on either side in the present war more brilliant than Sheridan's. All of us have read of brave and heroic deeds done on battle fields that have commanded the world's applause, and promotion on the spot where the gallant act was done.

But there never was a case where such promotion was awarded a soldier, as Sheridan has received. One morning he was a Captain in the regular army, holding, it is true, a Major General's command, but rating only as a General of volunteers, an appointment of but temporary character.

His commission as Major General of the regular army dates from the morning of November 8th and his actual promotion was from a Captaincy to that position. In coming years, when histories are read, and the hearts of men are stirred by recitals of deeds of heroism, the brave men of today will be remembered, their deeds chronicled in song, and their names become immortal on the page of history.

Pens gifted with the inspiration of a Macaulay, a Prescott, a Gibbon or a Hume shall hand down to our children the conflicts that have lately carried war's dreadful [illegible] so often through the once peaceful valley of the Shenandoah, and the name of Sheridan will be a talisman to inspire the coming youth with a worthy ambition, like him "to be a captain," and the friendly word given at San Francisco to one who knew him well, that he was going East to take the field, and "hoped to be a Captain," will be handed down with him to teach ambition that valor and modesty are well combined. Long live Sheridan! We have but one wish for him: may his fame never lessen in future battles, nor be dimmed by the sullying of the partisan hero worship of political life. The modest Lieutenant at Fort Yamhill little dreamed that such fame awaited him, and let the hero of Shenandoah but possess the modesty that has characterized him hitherto and be better content to be a General idolized by a Nation, than to descend to become a politician, and his name and fame are assured.

Our history is maturing fast, and pens are already sharpening to perpetuate the present hour, and make many names immortal.

A German statistical writer remarks that the invention of the sewing machine has enabled one woman to sew as much as a hundred could sew by hand a year ago, but, he continues, one woman now demands as much clothing as a hundred did a century ago—so the situation is not so much changed after all.

The Savannah Republican says the losses during the bombardment of Atlanta will reach five million dollars worth of real estate, embracing 47 houses burnt. There were 497 persons killed and 657 wounded.

Lord Brougham [illegible] his eighty-sixth year. [illegible] September 19th, 1778, and [illegible] in full possession not only of his [illegible] vigor, but of unimpaired mental faculties.

Thanksgiving Day.—The proclamation of our [illegible] has [illegible] as a general [illegible] Throughout the State [illegible] tation of His goodness and mercy.

It was Coleridge who made his "Ancient Mariner" so beautifully and [illegible] say: "The good God that loveth us, He made and loveth all," and it is to all that this day of appointed as a time for returning thanks to him [illegible]

[illegible] the [illegible] of Spring, the warmth of Summer, and the fruits and harvests of Autumn, have been [illegible] of the [illegible] year, and the [illegible] ing gloom of Winter is but the period of nature [illegible] to recuperate her energies to enable earth to reproduce its bounties in the coming season [illegible] like the [illegible] has its [illegible] and [illegible] and the gloomiest hour often precedes the brightest morning. While we bask in the sunshine, let us not despise the cloud, but [illegible] and learn that November is as necessary to the weal as is the shower of April or the [illegible] of May.

Widows as an Element of Reconstruction.—A Correspondence of recent date from Vicksburg says:

It has lately come to my ears (which I [illegible] little loth to believe, having entertained [illegible] tional prejudice in such matters) that a [illegible] wealth, richer than ever was locked in California or Golconda, has been [illegible] in the persons or places of the numberless widows now inhabiting the shores of the river here. [illegible] One of our acquaintances has found a lively widow, with no further incumbrance than some 500 bales of cotton, which, in consideration of a contract of amity between them, and ratified by a clergyman, have been converted into greenbacks, to be spent jointly. Another has found a pair of widows, neither of whom he could marry, since he is honest enough to admit one existing marriage, but has secured some $60,000 for his influence in getting husbands for them both. A third we know has so endeared himself to a "lone woman" by his winning ways, that he is established on her plantation as business manager, with a salary of $10,000 per annum [illegible] found. We make no charge in giving publicity to the fact that there are hundreds of others with similar endowments, and to the race of fortune-hunters we can suggest no better field for adventure than this, provided they have no regard for that tremendous admonition of the senior Weller.

Sad Affair.—The Carson Post of November 12th says:

This morning, about two o'clock, Mrs. Little, wife of Marion Little, residing on a ranch between this place and Washoe valley, had occasion to get up from her bed, and, anxious not to disturb the slumbers of her husband and child, did so very quietly, and passed into the adjoining room. While moving about there, Little was awakened by the sound of her footsteps, and, mistaking them for the cautious tread of a robber, drew and cocked his pistol. At this moment Mrs. Little opened the door to return to her bed. Little fired, the ball taking effect in the arm near the elbow—it is thought, passing between the bones. A second shot fortunately missed its mark. Dr. Thompson, who was called to attend the suffering lady, pronounces the wound, though very fearful, not a dangerous one. Little's lack of caution is explained by the fact that he had received a considerable sum of money the evening previous, and, knowing that the county was filled with cut-throats and robbers, had wrought himself up to expect a burglarious attack.

Spirit Rappings.—Not a hundred miles from here was an impromptu display in the rapping line. It was on the occasion of a funeral in the neighborhood, that a mischievous boy, occupying a house with his mother and a lady boarder, secreted himself in a room adjacent to where the two ladies were ruminating on the uncertainty of human life, and then on the partition gave repeated raps, at short intervals. The younger of the ladies was startled, and declared the house haunted, but soon summoning courage to the sticking point, said—"If there be spirits here, manifest it by three raps." Mischief gave three with a vim, when the younger lady ran out of doors, followed by the boy's mother, who happened to have a large knife in her hand at the moment. Both, with arms extended in the air, flew to the roadside, where their demonstrations stopped some teamsters who were passing, they thinking the woman with the knife, was pursuing the other with murderous intent. On the facts being made known to them, the teamsters entered the house with the ladies, and soon succeeded in unhousing the young author of this practical joke.—Shasta Courier.

Scandalous Exercise of Power.—The proprietors of the Vulcan Foundry—most intense secessionists—finding it impossible to obtain skilled workmen in the ranks of the Copperheads, are compelled to employ intelligent, industrious and reliable Union men to do their work. To show their appreciation of this fidelity, this firm yesterday refused to allow their loyal employees to be absent from their work to go to the polls, and threatened to discharge any man who did so. This tyranny of capital over intelligence appears all the more galling from the fact that every other foundry in the city was closed in order to give the men employed about them an opportunity to vote. We trust the loyal men of the State, when they have any work in this line to be done, will remember this tyranny of the Vulcan Foundry. It is a crime against the country to support those who would interfere with a loyal citizen in casting his vote on such a great occasion as that of yesterday.—S. F. Flag.

No Kisses for Copperheads.—Yesterday morning, says a California cotemporary, ourself and a Copperhead acquaintance called at the residence of a mutual friend of ours, and while enjoying a social chat with the family, a little curly-haired, cherry-lipped, six year old Miss climbed into Cop.'s lap and, with her winning childish prattle, engaged his attention for some time. By and by we both rose to take our leave, when Cop. proceeded to negotiate for a parting kiss from those aforesaid cherry lips. The little one looked him full in the face, while an amusing expression of gravity came across her sweet little countenance as she asked him the question: "Did you vote for Mr. Lincoln?" Cop. was obliged to confess that he did not. "All well," said she, "then you're a Copperhead—I can't kiss you." We left.

That Flag.—The Virginia Union says: Nevada, the last born of the American Union, is entitled to the flag offered by the National Union Executive Committee to the State polling the largest Union vote in proportion to the number of its inhabitants. We have carried every county in the State, and elected every State and county officer. Of the total vote the Unionists have at least two-thirds. Ye loyal States, give to your youngest sister the banner of glory. She has won it well and will wear it long.

We say, amen!

A Robber's Strategy.—A lady and gentleman living near London were disturbed in their slumbers recently, by the very unpleasant noise of a slight move under the bed. The lady expressed her alarm, but her somewhat sleepy caro sposo said, "Oh! it is only one of the dogs," and putting his hand down by the side of the bed, he called "Leon, Leon," and his hand being licked, after a moment the pair were satisfied, and they soon slumbered again peacefully. In the morning they found that all their money and jewelry had disappeared, and it was clear that the licker had been the dernier resort of an ingenious biped concealed under the bed.

The Gold and Silver Discoveries on Puget Sound.—About 1,000 pounds of gold and silver quartz from the lead lately discovered by Mr. [illegible] Carpenter, near the Naches Pass, in the Cascades, was brought to town yesterday on the Eliza Anderson. The quartz is on the way to San Francisco for assay, and is sent by Messrs. M[illegible] and Huggins. About 500 claims have been already located, and great excitement exists in consequence on the Sound.—Victoria Chronicle.

Accident.—An accident occurred at Tumwater on Saturday evening last, by the premature discharge of a cannon, which was being fired by the friends of "Old Abe," wounding Mr. Dudley Barnes in the left arm. The injury is said to be painful though not serious.—Wash. Democrat.

[illegible] OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO NOVEMBER 21.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The Richmond Sentinel, speaking of Sherman's movements, says the first point [illegible] by Sherman, is Macon [illegible] Atlanta. We are informed [illegible] Savannah, 100 miles [illegible] Charleston.

In the Georgia [illegible] the [illegible] resolution [illegible] of the [illegible] State [illegible] with all other [illegible] the [illegible] fested by the [illegible] favor [illegible] ing on Jeff. Davis and the rebel [illegible] to make [illegible] Government at Washington.

Philadelphia, Nov. [illegible]—The [illegible] dispatch says Richmond papers of the 18th have no [illegible] Sherman [illegible] of Atlanta on Wednesday [illegible] at Howell [illegible] and [illegible] cavalry [illegible] the enemy [illegible]

New York, Nov. 21.—[illegible] of [illegible] since our last report [illegible] have been [illegible]

A Richmond dispatch of the [illegible] change of [illegible] Savannah [illegible]

The Richmond Enquirer says the rebels captured [illegible] train of cars, loaded with commissary stores at Morristown, East Tennessee, on the 13th, and [illegible] killing [illegible] and capturing a number of Yankees.

The Richmond Sentinel says the new movements on foot in Virginia, Georgia and Tennessee show that a vast campaign, singularly complicated, is in process of development.

The Sentinel and Dispatch insist that Sheridan has sent part of his army to Grant, and that Gen. Early advanced to the rear of Harper's Ferry.

A Richmond dispatch of the 18th says: Sherman will feel an expedition he does not calculate on before he reaches the fortifications of Macon. These works, should he ever reach them, will be found most formidable with troops. Long before that time will be collected in them to give battle. As the Petersburg militia did last June, Macon will be saved.

The Herald's special says: Richmond papers of the 19th contain positive information that Sherman is far south of Atlanta, moving onward. People along his route are in a high state of excitement and there seems to be no troops to retard his progress.

Hood's troops are still near Florence and have made no offensive movement.

Richmond papers of the 19th are received. Two armed United States steamers are reported to have been captured on the Big Sandy river.

Breckinridge is in East Tennessee endeavoring to win the people in that district to the allegiance of Jeff. Davis, and has declared an amnesty to all who lay down their arms and cease bushwhacking his troops.

In the Rebel House of Representatives there was offered by Henry Foote, of Tennessee, a resolution to the effect that the war must be continued until the independence of the South shall be acknowledged.

New York, Nov. 20.—Dispatches from Shenandoah Valley confirm the previous advices that the rebels under Early have withdrawn from Sheridan's front, with the design, it is supposed, of going into winter quarters somewhere in the vicinity of Staunton. It is possible that Early may be sent out of the valley entirely by the Richmond authorities, for the purpose of uniting his army with the rebel forces in some other quarter.

Correspondence from the City of Mexico indicates that the Republicans are likely to give Maximilian considerable trouble. From 8,000 to 9,000 liberal troops are at Oajaca, which is strongly fortified and prepared to resist any attack. It is expected that Gen. Bazaine will soon lay siege to the town with an Imperial force of 10,000 men. It is reported that Maximilian will accompany the army of besiegers. The troops are greatly dissatisfied with the policy of the Emperor. The guerrillas give his soldiers unceasing trouble.

It is rumored in Washington that McClellan has consented to head a Commission of Democrats who will visit Richmond and confer with the rebel Government respecting peace on the basis of Union. Grant's army is not yet going into winter quarters. Military men look for stirring news from there. Reports say that Seward will send an apology to Brazil for the seizure of the Florida.

Advices from the army state that the rebels refuse to exchange papers. This is considered an indication that Sherman is successfully accomplishing his movement.

New York, Nov. 21.—The World's correspondent with Sheridan contradicts the report that Early has abandoned the valley. He is still at Newmarket and Mount Jackson.

It is reported that Captain Brasher, with sixty men, had a fight with Mosby on the 19th, and was whipped. No particulars.

The Times' special says it is expected by military men here that Sherman's movement will bring on operations along the whole line in Virginia and the West.

The Herald's special dispatch says: In connection with Sherman's movement South, it is significant that the Legislature of Georgia meets at Milledgeville about this time. In the Legislature it is understood the Union sentiment is strong. Some here, high in military position, assert that a peace proposition, backed by a good Union force, will be in the ascendancy, and that, a free expression of opinion being thus secured, under the protection of our army, they will repeal the ordinance of secession, and place Georgia beneath the Union flag. It is not improbable that Sherman has been in communication with parties in power, and that this is an understanding between him and such parties was one reason for this new campaign.

New York, Nov. 22.—The Times' Washington special says: It is not contraband news to say that Sherman will touch at Macon. His army numbers 50,000 men including 6,000 picked cavalry under Kilpatrick. He has rations for thirty days for man and beast. After arriving at Macon he will probably go to Milledgeville, where he will divide his army, sending a part to Savannah and part to Augusta, where he will fortify and receive supplies up the Savannah river so as to move on Columbia or Charleston. This programme will destroy the railroad system of Georgia, and also all manufactories of shells, fixed ammunition, etc. It is impossible for Beauregard to intercept Gen. Sherman.

Though Gen. Early's main force has been withdrawn far up the Shenandoah Valley, he has left some small outlying detachments of cavalry lower down, apparently for the purpose of concealing his designs and reconnoitering in the front of Sheridan's forces. Gen. Powell's cavalry encountered one of these parties of the enemy in Luray Valley on the 17th and drove them through Front Royal. On the same day the Federal reconnoissance in the vicinity of Berryville resulted in meeting a body of rebel cavalry and making prisoners of them.

The Tribune's special dispatch says: Seward and Welles are at variance concerning the capture of the Florida. Secretary Stanton is still seriously indisposed.

Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—The Inquirer has a special dispatch which says: On the 18th the rebels captured a part of the picket line between the James and Appomattox, numbering sixty men. News from City Point reports the retaking by Butler of his picket line.

Forgery [illegible] by a Boy.—A Nashville correspondent of the Chicago Journal says:

A heavy forgery was revealed in this city lately. Captain Irvin, of the Quartermaster's Department, so far violated military duties as to sign a great number of vouchers, in blank, for his clerks to fill up. One named Earl, a lad of 18 years old, and a clerk in the department, got several of these and filled them out, and sold them to bar brokers here recently, and then left for parts unknown. The whole amount of the forgery was about $50,000. This is the second forgery in this line in this vicinity within three months.

Dry Goods.—To whom it may Concern, we would say, that we have found the Store in which Dry Goods and Clothing can be had on better terms than at the Store of Mr. J. Wilson, on Front street. We have been there, and have been so well pleased that we intend to go again. See Advertisement.—From P. [illegible] Advocate, Nov. 5th. n22d&wjal

THE LEAP YEAR [illegible] correspondent [illegible] writing under date [illegible] for the first [illegible] of Portland [illegible] [illegible] such things have been [illegible] gossip and [illegible]

GEOMETRICAL [illegible].—The [illegible] carried [illegible] according [illegible] which quoted 4640 sacks of wheat, Oats, Barley etc., making in all [illegible] of the shipment [illegible] pounds, or 13,320 [illegible] for Victoria but none of our friends [illegible] she would not go over the bar [illegible] the discovery that a big blunder had been made by the compositor which had escaped the eye of the proof reader and that instead of so many thousand sacks she really carried but about eighty tons and would most likely reach her destination in safety. The problem confounded a great many of the disciples of Euclid and a great many pencils were sharpened in summing up the [illegible] average and other important features of so great a cargo on so small a craft. We acknowledge that "mistakes do occur" sometimes.

A DODGE.—We learn that the citizens of Dalles are raising a fund by contribution to send the editor of their little 7x9 Daily to Washington City for the purpose of urging the Dalles as the only fit place for the Mint location. It is a good move to get him out of the country and some of his associates in this city would willingly assist their neighbors at the Dalles to get him off if there could be no prospect of his ever returning. The editor aforesaid might by this circumstance fall in with his Washington correspondent who formerly resided at the Penitentiary in this city and the two would make a precious pair to "lobby for the Mint."

A "BLOODY" JOB.—Our ideas of a sanguinary subject were somewhat aroused about half past nine o'clock last evening, upon hearing the curse—we believe that is what it was—of a deck hand on board of the steamer [illegible] who had a mishap with some of his arrangement in stowing a portion of the cargo. We give it in his own language to the chief officer. "The bloody hog was too heavy for the bloody stick, which broke at a bloody knot and the bloody thing fell to the bloody deck." Notwithstanding the bloody dark night the [illegible] sailed in good order.

THE WEATHER.—The telegraphic operators in exchanging notes, have discovered that yesterday it looked very much like rain at Marysville Cal., showered at Jacksonville and [illegible] at Roseburg, and stormed at Olympia. [illegible] can accordingly prepare to come in out of the wet before a great while. A barometer could hardly do better for us than the wires sometimes do in prognosticating about the state of the clouds. They sometimes use the clerk of the weather so badly that his reputation is gone.

N. B.—Before Local items could put the above in type it was raining a torrent in Portland. Now who can beat the wires in prognosticating the weather.

A WRONG APPREHENSION.—Some two weeks since we published among the marriage notices in this paper an alliance at the holy altar in Albany, Linn county, between Mr. G. W. Vaughn and Miss Ann E. Briggs. To remove all apprehension from the minds of accomplished young ladies in this city who seem to have confused the name with that of our sociable neighbor 114 and 116 Front street we will say that it was entirely another individual who officiated in the capacity of bridegroom on that auspicious occasion although of precisely the same name. If the latter would take a hint from us we might suggest something, [illegible] friend is still "in market."

KNOTT'S WHARF was quite a busy place until a late hour last night, owing to the arrival of the steamer from the upper Willamette with an unusual amount of produce. There being no gas lights in that vicinity the darkness rendered it quite difficult for the drayman to remove the freight as it was being discharged.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES.—At the M. E. Church to-day at 10 o'clock A. M. services appropriate to Thanksgiving will be held. Rev. Dr. [illegible] will preach. A collection will also be taken for the benefit of the Christian Commission. We presume the several other churches in the city will observe the day with becoming gratitude.

NO PAPER TO-MORROW.—This being Thanksgiving Day, the attaches of the Oregonian establishment who have no desire to deviate from time-honored custom will abstain from their usual labors, in consequence of which no paper will be issued from this office to-morrow.

CIRCUIT COURT.—There was nothing of special note transacted in Circuit Court yesterday. The bill of exceptions in the case of [illegible] will be heard on Monday morning. Court adjourned until Friday at 10 A. M., at which time the case of the State vs. James [illegible] is to be tried.

THEATRICAL.—The Woman in White was the leading play at Willamette Theatre last night, followed by the pleasing old farce of [illegible] a Lover," favorite entree, and song. To-night "Madelaine" and the "Jealous Wife" will be performed, in both of which plays Mrs. [illegible] appears.

GROUNDED.—The steamer [illegible] on the return trip from the Cascades yesterday ran aground a short distance below the [illegible] and was detained some hours. The [illegible] low at the present time [illegible] yesterday sold [illegible] The [illegible] brought about 200 passengers and a large amount of treasure.

MORE CONVICTS.—The steamer [illegible] brought two convicts from [illegible] last night. One Simpson sentenced to ninety years at hard labor for the murder of [illegible] Smith [illegible]. He will be an old man if he lives until the expiration of his term. Charles Rapp [illegible] sentenced for three years.

Thanksgiving.

To-day is given [illegible]
For thanks to God [illegible] full measure,
To spread the [illegible] heard with [illegible]
And bid the [illegible]
And when the [illegible] the [illegible]
Throw on a [illegible]
Let childhood's [illegible] mock the [illegible] rain,
Shout [illegible] the window [illegible]
Let all [illegible] of cheer,
Bless [illegible]
That where [illegible]
Where [illegible] Columbia [illegible]
Where [illegible] down,
Sullen [illegible] own,
For far and near [illegible]
No hostile [illegible] pale
Give thanks!

Be thankful! [illegible] side by side,
The wife, the husband, [illegible] and pride,
That happy children [illegible] you,
That you have friends who [illegible] greet you.
Give thanks!

May your hopes be high or lowly—
May life's pulse beat fast or slowly—
Joyous [illegible]—
Mind [illegible] taught or [illegible]—
Be thankful that [illegible] are free,
As on the [illegible] the soul [illegible]
That you and yours are free-born,
Each place to live for and adorn
For you the school-house and the church we raise,
Mind to instruct and tone that tongue to praise
So from each homestead let thanksgivings rise—
Fill with heart incense the [illegible] skies.
Give thanks to-day, to-morrow, ever,
That mercies may forsake you never.

WHAT MANIA-A-POTU MEANS.—A pretty well dressed young man stepped into the Central Station one Monday afternoon to enter a complaint. He appeared to be perfectly sane, but it was not long before we came to the conclusion that we stood in the presence of a man who was laboring under an attack of mania-a-potu.

"Sir," said he, "I am very much annoyed by the Reading Railroad Company; they have caused to be laid a double track from the cellar of my house to the roof; one track goes up on one side of my bed and down on the other side. They run the cars all night; just as I go into a doze, a locomotive whizzes by, blowing the steam whistle and ringing the bell. Last night, sir, one of the locomotives flew off the track, leaped across my bed to the other track, and the engineer grinned at me like the devil. The passengers all looked like devils, some with no horns at all. Each devil carried a canary bird, which seemed to sing like a steam whistle."

"Well, sir, your complaint is just; we have already taken measures to have the railroad track removed from your house, so that you can sleep without being disturbed," was our reply.

The man seemed greatful that such a course had been taken, and as he arose to depart, he said:

"Sir, I wish you would remove that worm from my shoulder; only a little while ago I pulled one out of my forehead and threw it on the pavement; just as I was about to put my foot on it, nearly a hundred ran up my leg, and I suppose this is one of them."

We removed the imaginary worm, when he exclaimed:

"Why, there is more of them."

"Wait a moment," said we.

A brush was obtained and properly used. The man, evidently a gentleman, returned his thanks for our kindness, and suddenly left the office. He was a stranger. What became of him we know not, but we thought the whole scene a first class temperance lecture.

A SCENE IN PARIS.—Lately a lady dressed in the height of fashion and attired in the most expensive materials entered one of the most extensive jewelry-shops in the Rue de la Paix in Paris. She looked over article after article, and found nothing to suit her, so she left the shop without purchasing anything. She had not been gone long when the jeweler missed a valuable brooch. Nobody had entered the shop but this fine lady, and she was certainly the thief. In one moment the shopkeeper was in full chase, soon overtook her, and rudely enough told her what had occurred—adding that she must go with him to the police station. The lady trembled violently in every limb, became as pale as death, and stood silent and motionless as a marble statue. The shopman became ruder. A gentleman of the lady's acquaintance passed by; seeing the distress she was in he inquired what the matter was. He angrily turned to the shopman with: "Do you know who this lady is?" but before he could add another word the shopman joyfully exclaimed: "There it is!" and he proceeded to disentangle from the meshes of lace with which the lady's talma was trimmed, the valuable brooch. "Do you know who the lady is!" angrily repeated the gentleman. "She is the Baroness de Rothschild." It was now the shopman's turn to tremble and turn pale and be speechless, white and motionless as a marble stone. So looked he as the lady and gentleman walked off, the lady vowing that neither she nor any of her family would ever put foot again in that jeweler's shop.

A story is related of a Turk who married. His wife when unveiled, proved to be very ugly. A few days after the nuptials she said to him, "My life, as you have many relations, I wish you to inform me before which of them I shall unveil." "My soul," said the husband, "if thou wilt but conceal thy face from me, I care not to whom thou showest it."

The Albany Knickerbocker says: No public man in the memory of the oldest inhabitant has made so few mistakes in letter writing as Abraham Lincoln. His style is not so finished and polished as that of Addison, Jefferson, Hamilton, Webster or Calhoun. He is as original and unique as Walpole or Sidney Smith, and more convincing than both.

A man on Cape Cod had separated from his wife, married a second with whom he lived a year and a half and then died. His first wife came forward and took possession of the estate; the second wife sued for pay for services during the time she lived with the deceased, and a jury gave her a verdict for $2 per week.

WELL ANSWERED.—"Why is it," asked a gentleman of one of the presiding divinities at the Christian Commission Fair, "that you ladies are always getting up fairs for the benefit of soldiers, and seldom, if ever, get up a fair for any other class of men?" "None but the brave deserve the fair," was the apt reply of the fair one.

Said a conceited young lady, "You men are a clever set."

No man has a right to do what he pleases, except when he pleases to do right.

"That's part of the sinking fund," as a man said when a box of money went to the bottom of the river.

Blame not a man too harshly for throwing dirt; he shows by the very act that it is his natural weapon.

A gentleman complaining of the income tax, says he cannot put on his boots in the morning without a stamp.

A woman said in a police court the other day, that before marriage her husband pretended to be much struck with her, but now she was every day struck by him.

What is fear? A frightful and dangerous substance to the really guilty; but a vain and harmless shadow to the conscientiously honest and upright.

Some smart contemporary says wonders will never cease. The other day he heard that "a horse was turned into a stable." And this is the nineteenth century.

Smith said to one of his debtors, "Isn't it about time that you paid me that little bill?" "My dear sir," was the [illegible] reply, "it's not a question of time, it's a question of money."

The following is a copy of an advertisement which appeared in a country paper: "Made their escape, a husband's affections. They disappeared immediately on seeing his wife with her hands and face unwashed at breakfast."

"Are you sound?" asked Dr. Duncan, the other day, of an elderly negro, who was drafted from Westfield, Massachusetts, and presented himself for examination. "Yes," replied the conscript, "I have voted the Democratic ticket these twenty years."

—AND—

IODINE ALTERATIVE

FOR THE

CONSTITUTION.

CLEANSE THE BLOOD.

WITH corrupt, disordered or vitiated Blood you must be sick all over. It may burst out in pimples, or sores, or in some active disease, or it may only keep you listless, depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. Le Doyen's Sarsaparilla purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of life into vigorous action, restoring the health and expelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurity of the blood, such as Scrofula or King's Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, Syphilis or Venereal Diseases, Liver Complaints and Heart Diseases.

HAVEMEYER MANSION, FIFTY-SEVENTH ST., New York, August 2, 1863.

DR. DRAKE: Your wonderful Plantation Bitters have been given to some of our little children suffering from weakness and weak lungs, with most happy effect. One little girl in particular, with pains in her head, loss of appetite, and daily wasting consumption, on whom all medical skill had been exhausted, has been entirely restored. We commenced with but a teaspoonful of Bitters a day. Her appetite and strength rapidly increased, and she is now well.

Respectfully,
MRS. O. M. DEVOE.

* * "I owe much to you, for I verily believe the Plantation Bitters have saved my life.
REV. W. H. WAGGONER, Madrid, N. Y."

* * "Thou wilt send me two bottles more of thy Plantation Bitters. My wife has been greatly benefited by their use. Thy friend, ASA CURRIN, Philadelphia, Pa."

* * "I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia, and had to abandon preaching. * * * The Plantation Bitters have cured me.
REV. C. S. CATHORN, Rochester, N. Y."

* * "Send us twenty-four dozen more of your Plantation Bitters, the popularity of which is daily increasing with the guests of our house.
SYKES, CHADWICK & CO.,
Proprietors Willard's Hotel, Washington, D. C."

* * "I have given the Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our disabled soldiers with the most astonishing effect.
G. W. ANDREWS,
Superintendent Soldiers' Home, Cincinnati, O."

* * The Plantation Bitters have cured me of liver complaint, of which I was laid up prostrate and had to abandon my business.
H. B. KINGSLEY, Cleveland, O."

* * The Plantation Bitters have cured me of a derangement of the kidneys and urinary organs that has distressed me for years. It acts like a charm.
C. C. MOORE, 254 Broadway, N. Y."
etc. etc. etc. etc. etc.

The Plantation Bitters make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Wintergreen, Sassafras, Roots, Herbs, &c., all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix Rum.

S. T.—1860.—X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try them.

They are recommended by the highest medical authorities, and are warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure and harmless.

NOTICE.—Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters in bulk or by the gallon, is a swindler and impostor. It is put up only in our log cabin bottle. Beware of bottles refilled with imitation deleterious stuff, for which several persons are already in prison. See that every bottle has our private United States Stamp over the cork unmutilated, and signature on steel plate side label.

Sold by respectable dealers throughout the habitable globe.
